

Happy Onion Coaching Collaborative

Terms & Conditions

Happy Onion Coaching Collaborative is a group of coaches who believe in providing tailored career guidance and support to members in the LGBTQIA+ and BIPOC communities.

All Happy Onion Coaches are certified. Our advice comes from years of experience in career coaching to candidates ranging from entry level/students to seasoned professionals. Our advice is meant to help you reach your career goals however we do not guarantee any specific results. We can help you explore new careers, update your resume, have an effective job search and more but we do not guarantee any individual a job—part-time, full-time or otherwise.

For more information about each coach, please visit their specific LinkedIn page.

Availability Note: Many Happy Onion Coaches provide coaching services in addition to other full-time roles. This means coaching availability depends on the individual schedules of our coaches which includes evenings and weekends and not based on typical hours of operation. If you can't find a time with any of the coaches' schedules, please contact us at hello@happyonioncc.com and we'll happily help you find one.

All services booked through HappyOnionCC.com are non-refundable.

It is the Client's responsibility to notify HOCC at least 6 hours in advance of the scheduled calls/meetings to reschedule. Please contact your Happy Onion coach directly or email hello@happyonioncc.com to reschedule your appointment.

If you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to us at hello@happyonioncc.com.

Updated 1/2/22